Abstract

Socio-economical processes are complex phenomena that can not be model in simple way. System Dynamics is the method which, with help of computer technology, allows simulating complicated problems, both economic and political ones. The introduction of System Dynamics to education acquaints young people with System Thinking as well as the use of dynamic models in planning the strategy of working and decision-making.